1 Executive Summary

The purpose of this project was to analyse the Australian Business Register (ABR) to report on the number and classifications of “businesses” registered in Sutherland Shire.

For the purposes of this analysis, “businesses” is assumed to be made up of the entities of Company, Individual/Sole Trader, Partnerships and Government. This analysis initially identifies but generally excludes entities deemed “non-business” registrations; specifically, Trusts and Superannuation Funds, which include Body Corporates, Strata Titles.

This report identifies in all 61,601 active ABNs registered in Sutherland Shire , according to the ABR data file provided at December 2007.

Applying the assumption that “business” comprises company, individual / sole trader, partnerships and government entity groups, it was found that 52,245 business entities are registered in the Sutherland Shire. This study concentrates on co-analysing these four “business” entity groups by 20 ANZSIC classifications and by 44 Shire Suburbs.

The analysis shows that “businesses” are distributed relatively evenly across the Shire’s suburbs, with concentrations in the principal commercial suburbs of Cronulla (6,091 businesses), Caringbah (6,359), Miranda (3,987), Engadine (3,605), Gymea (2,894), Kirrawee (2,750) & Sutherland (2,354).

The Shire’s major industries by ANZSIC categories are; Construction (9,576), Professional, Scientific and technical services (7,262) Rental, Hiring & Real Estate Services (5,679), Financial & Insurance Services (3,085), Admin & Support Services (2,680) and Retail Trade (2,634)

Most notably, this study shines new light on the proliferation of Home-Based businesses in Sutherland Shire, co-analysing the data by ANZSIC classification and by suburb. The data is presented in a large array of Tables, with follow-up commentary analysis.

2. Introduction

The purpose of this project was to analyse the Australian Business Register (ABR) to report on the number and classifications of “businesses” registered in Sutherland Shire.

Data from the Australian Business Register (ABR) was provided to council’s Economic Development Unit by the Australian Taxation Office, to support Council’s research and policy development for Metro Strategy employment targets and the new Local Environment Plan. The study adds significant new information to council’s understanding of the Shire’s business community in general, and home-based business in particular.

Over recent years, as part of its business data base development program, council’s EDU regularly monitored the ARB web site (www.abr.business.gov.au) to track the number of active ABNs registered within Sutherland Shire. This provided a general indication of the number of “businesses” operating in/from the Shire. However, while this public information provides information by entity type by suburb, it does not provide individual unit details such as registered owner, operating and registered address and business activity as per ANZSIC division. It is this critical location and activity information that forms the basis of this study.

The information from this study sheds new light on the structure characteristics and geographic locations of Shire’s business community. This study, for the first time, gives Council an accurate picture of the concentration and classification of “business” within in Sutherland Shire. Most importantly, it provides new information on the proliferation and activity of the Shire’s Home-Based business sector.

The objective of this study was to sort, collate and analyse the Australian Business Register database of active ABNs registered in the Sutherland Shire, and to produce a report that shows the classifications and distribution of “businesses” within Sutherland Shire.

3. Scope of Study

Located some 20kms to the south of Sydney's CBD, and 10kms from the Kingsford-Smith International Airport and 18kms from Port Botany, Sutherland Shire is an important business region for southern Sydney. The Shire has a diverse, skilled workforce of approximately 105,000 persons from a total population of 215,000. This study was scoped to provide information on the Shire's diverse business base.

Council's Economic Development Unit has a number of business databases that report on representative samples of businesses located in Sutherland Shire. The data bases primarily report on businesses located in Employment (Industrial) Zones and Commercial - Retail Zones. Information from other sources provides indications of an extensive distribution of businesses registered and operating from Residential suburbs. What was lacking was a picture of the Shire's business structure in total, and more reliable picture of the size and activities of the Shire's home based business segment.

The Australian Business Register database was provided to Council, upon application, by the Australian Taxation Office, as a critical information component to council's response to the Metro Strategy employment targets and development of the new Local Environmental Plan.

The Australian Business Register database provided to Sutherland Shire Council reports on all active ABNs Registered in the Sutherland Shire. Due to its complexity, the raw data provided by the ATO was first sorted and collated into a practical relational data base by Council's researchers prior to commencement of this study. The UWS student was provided with the rationalized relational database, in order to conduct this research project.

The raw ATO ABN data was rationalized into six entity groups: Company, Individual/Sole Trader, Partnerships, Government and Trust and Superannuation Funds.

For purposes of this analysis it was assumed that the “Business Sector” would most likely comprise ABN registrations from the Company, Individual/ Sole Trade, Partnership and Government groupings. A general analysis of the overall data indicated this is a reliable supposition.

Therefore entity groups Trusts, Superannuation Funds, Body Corporates and Strata Titles are excluded from the detailed analysis, although they have been identified in specific tables.

For the purposes of this study, The ABR provided information on:

- Business or Entity name
- Ownership details
- Business address
- Service of notice address
- ANZSIC classification

The ABR does not provide data on financial, income or employment information. The ABR registers an entity once by business address. Clearly, some businesses that operate in the Shire are registered in other Postcodes, and will not be accounted for in this analysis. A check through the data to identify known non-shire based businesses reveals this to be an insignificant factor in the analysis.

Due to time limitations of the research program and the extensive number of data Tables compiled, this study is intended to be an initial overall analysis. It is open for subsequent interrogation of the data sets to investigate multiple ABNs per address and perhaps perform a detailed GIS analysis to more accurately discern the extent of “businesses” located in Residential Zones

In summary, this study provides information co-referenced through a comprehensive set of Tables, on Shire – based businesses by business entity type, by ANZSIC classification and by suburb.

4 Methodology

The Australian Business Register as provided by the Australian Taxation Office was relatively complex dataset. These datasets were rationalized, grouped and developed into a relational database by Council as a preliminary necessity to this study.

The method used in this research project was to produce summary Tables of the information contained in the relational database of listings, cross classified by “business” Entity Type, ANZSIC Division and Suburb.

The core of this study is a comprehensive set of data Tables, which typically provide a two or three way analysis of the data.

Summary analysis of the data Tables appears in appendices. These summary analyses highlight key aspects and frequencies from the detailed Tables.

5 Conclusions & Recommendations

Conclusions

This report presents a comprehensive overview analysis of the ATO Australian Business Register information on active ABNs registered in the Sutherland Shire.

An extensive set of Tables has been produced which, for the first time, provide and describe the full extend of the “business” structure in Sutherland Shire. With the exclusion of non business entities, this analysis indicates some 52,245 active “businesses” ABNs in the Sutherland Shire.

This analysis sheds a whole new light on the size and activity of the Shire’s business sector, and in particular the extent of the Shire’s home based business segment. This new information fills a data gap in Council’s, and perhaps the business community’s understanding of the Shire’s economic base.

In conclusion, this research project has produced an analysis of the Shire’s business structure that shows a surprisingly diverse and uniform spread of “businesses” throughout the suburbs of Sutherland Shire.

Recommendations:

1. That follow up studies be conducted to explore multiple ABNs by address, to produce a more robust analysis.
2. That subsequent analyses be undertaken to “map” the data and thus identifying businesses in Residential Zones.
3. That this report be received and noted by Council’s Economic Development Committee.
